

PBS is my source for inspiration.

- Matthew Gong, Seattle, WA

Matthew Gong, Nooksack/Squamish, who lives in the Seattle area looks to KCTS for inspiration. Programs by Native filmmakers supported by Native American Public Telecommunications (NAPT) show the point of view of walking in two worlds—the city and their connections to back home and Tribal Nations. PBS documentaries about contemporary Native Americans share these stories with the world.